

The Ultimate Orgasm

Enlightenment

April 28, 2011

The term “enlightenment” is in common usage, but is not clearly defined in spiritual literature. For instance, the Buddha means the enlightened one, but what does that mean? In eastern religions enlightenment refers to a heightened spiritual understanding or awakening, but its exact definition seems to be nebulously defined. It is hoped that that terminology will now be exactly defined.

We all have heard that the soul enters the body at birth and leaves the body at death. This is a fairly ancient and common understanding held by many, and this common understanding has been the foundation of most religious beliefs and practices. Since ancient times people have had experiences of the soul entering and leaving the body accompanied by unique visions and understandings of a spiritual nature. In modern times near death experiences (NDE) have been studied and written about and provide a vast source of information about the soul leaving and re-entering the body.

The Ultimate Orgasm is the art and science of liberating the soul from this world's delusions. From the beginning to the end freeing the soul is the greatest pleasure, bliss, rapture, and orgasmic experiences you will know. When Enlightenment first occurs, the soul's light blasts through the mental illusions of this world, and you begin to feel pleasure and bliss. As you progress, the feelings become rapturous and orgasmic, overwhelming the body, mind, and world.

Enlightenment occurs in various ways. The Near-Death-Experience is an example of a temporary form of Enlightenment as the soul is known, leaves, and re-enters the body. Some rare people study and practice to find the truth, discover that everything is a lie, and reject it all, and find their own way to the timeless. Those rare Enlightened souls have the ability to Enlighten other souls, so that they can begin to experience the Ultimate Orgasm for themselves.

There is no real technique to begin the Ultimate Orgasm. You either spend your life finding the path for yourself, or it is a gift from an Enlightened being. When it is a gift, then there are techniques for the soul to grow out of the darkness, and potentially Enlighten others. For instance, before you are enlightened, you can rock your body and it feels nice and relaxing. After your enlightenment, you may do the same thing, but it becomes orgasmic. The difference is that the soul's light can now evaporate the body-mind limitations, and that liberation brings you freedom and ecstasy.
